Report on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Live Well Financial, Inc. (the "Company"), which comprise the statements of financial condition as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, and the related statements of operations, stockholders' equity, and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the Company's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Live Well Financial, Inc. as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, and the results of its operations, changes in stockholders' equity, and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States.

Report on Supplemental Information

Our audits were conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the financial statements as a whole. The accompanying supplemental information on pages 32 through 45 and pages 50 through 51, as listed in the Table of Contents, is presented for purposes of additional analysis as required by the Consolidated Audit Guide for Audits of HUD Programs (the "Guide"), issued by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Office of Inspector General, and is not a required part of the financial statements. Such information is the responsibility of management and was derived from and relates directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statements. The information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the financial statements and certain additional procedures, including comparing and reconciling such information directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statements or to the financial statements themselves, and other additional procedures in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States. In our opinion, the information is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the financial statements as a whole.

Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued a report dated March 25, 2016 on our consideration of the Company's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, grant agreements, and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. Also, in accordance with the Guide, we have also issued a report dated March 25, 2016, on the Company's internal control over compliance and an opinion on its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts and grant agreements, and other matters that could have a direct and material effect on a major HUD-assisted program. Those reports are an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and the Guide in considering internal control and compliance.

Notes to Financial Statements

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies:

Nature of Business: Live Well Financial, Inc. (the "Company") was incorporated on April 1, 2005, and is headquartered in Richmond, Virginia. The Company operates principally as a mortgage lender. Since its organization, the Company has devoted substantial financial resources to obtaining licensing from federal and state regulatory authorities, developing a proprietary retail, wholesale lending and correspondent platform, developing servicing and secondary marketing capabilities, and building a network of wholesale brokers and correspondents across the United States. The Company has established physical branch offices in San Diego, California; Kihei, Hawaii; and Richmond, Virginia to expand their retail and wholesale businesses. By law, the Company has authorized branches in Pahoa, Hawaii and Scottsdale, Arizona. At December 31, 2015, the Company was doing business in 46 states and Puerto Rico, employed 289 people, and established relationships with over 465 wholesale brokers and correspondent lenders. During 2014, the Company established a Government Bond trading desk to manage the secondary market activities related to the sale of HMBS. Additionally, the trading desk manages the Government Bond Portfolio that the Company holds for sale on its balance sheet along with the related hedges and debt financing.

In 2007, the Company became an approved seller and servicer of home equity conversion mortgages ("HECM") to the Federal National Mortgage Association ("FNMA"). The Company has not sold new HECM loans to FNMA since 2009; however continues to service a portfolio of existing HECM loans on behalf of FNMA.

In February 2012, the Company was approved by the Government National Mortgage Association ("GNMA") to issue and sell home equity conversion mortgage ("HECM") mortgage-backed securities ("HMBS"). The Company issued and sold 127 and 83 HMBS pools collateralized by HUD-approved reverse mortgages participations originated by the Company or purchased from other lenders in 2015 and 2014, respectively.

In March 2013, the Company was approved by GNMA to issue and sell Ginnie Mae I and II single family forward mortgage mortgage-backed securities ("MBS"). The Company issued and sold 10 and 22 MBS pools collateralized by HUD-approved forward mortgages originated by the Company or purchased from other lenders in 2015 and 2014, respectively.

In September 2013, the Company became an approved seller and servicer of conforming forward mortgages directly to FNMA on a whole loan basis.

The Company is exposed to a number of risks, including competition, the fluctuations in the value of residential real estate owned by potential borrowers, secondary market conditions, and implementation risk of new lending programs and programmatic changes to existing federal lending programs, and other innovations.

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, Continued:

Nature of Business, Continued: Through 2015, management was able to finance the Company's operations and expansion through earnings, the issuance of debt instruments, and preferred and common stock. Since inception through December 31, 2015, the Company has raised equity capital totaling $12,338,000. The Company has not raised equity capital since 2008.

Basis of Accounting: The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States ("GAAP") as determined by the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC").

Revenue Recognition:

Fair Value Option: Under the guidance issued by FASB for the fair value option for financial assets and financial liabilities (the "Fair Value Option"), the Company is permitted to choose, at specified election dates, to measure eligible items at fair value. Unrealized gains and losses on items for which the Fair Value Option has been elected are reported in operations as a component of gain on mortgage loan originations. Additionally, fees and costs associated with instruments for which the Fair Value Option is elected are recognized as earned and expensed as incurred, rather than deferred. The Fair Value Option is applied instrument-by-instrument (with certain exceptions), is irrevocable (unless a new election date occurs), and is applied only to an entire instrument.

The Company measures certain eligible items at fair value, including all of its loans held for sale ("LHFS") and approved loan commitments at each election date. The Company's fair value election for LHFS is intended to better reflect the underlying economics of the Company. The Company's fair value election for both LHFS and loan commitments enables it to record all gains and losses in the statements of operations.

Mortgage Production: Mortgage production includes the origination and sale of mortgages. Mortgage loans are originated through retail, wholesale brokerage, and correspondent lending channels. Mortgage origination fees consist of fee income earned on all loan originations, and are reduced by the fees paid to wholesale brokers and correspondent brokers. Under the Fair Value Option for the Company's LHFS, net fees associated with the origination and acquisition of LHFS are recognized as earned, rather than deferred, and the related direct loan origination costs are recognized when incurred.

LIVE WELL FINANCIAL, INC.

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, Continued:Revenue Recognition, Continued:

Mortgage Production, Continued: Under the Fair Value Option, gain on sale of mortgage loan originations includes the realized and unrealized gains and losses on the Company's LHFS, as well as the changes in fair value of all loan commitments. The fair value of the Company's loan commitments is based upon the estimated fair value of the underlying mortgage loan, adjusted for: (i) estimated costs to complete and originate the loan and (ii) the estimated percentage of loan commitments that will result in a closed mortgage loan. For loans expected to be sold on a servicing-released basis, the value of the mortgage servicing rights ("MSRs") is included in the fair value of loan commitments and LHFS. For loans expected to be sold or securitized on a servicing-retained basis, the value of the MSRs is recorded when the loans are sold.

All of the Company's originated and acquired reverse mortgage loans were securitized through the GNMA HMBS program and the resulting securities were sold to approved broker dealers. The Company continues to sell its originated forward mortgages directly to approved private investors and FNMA on a whole-loan basis in addition to securitizing and selling forward GNMA MBS to approved broker dealers. In accordance with FASB guidance for transfers of financial assets, the Company evaluates each type of securitization or sale for "sales" treatment, including sales under participation agreements. This review includes both an accounting and a legal analysis to determine whether or not the transferred assets have been isolated from the transferor. To the extent the transfer of assets qualifies as a sale, the Company derecognizes the asset and records the gain or loss on the sale date. In the event the Company determines that the transfer of assets does not qualify as a sale, the transfer would be treated as a secured borrowing.

The Company's policy for placing loans on non-accrual status is consistent with the Company's policy prior to the adoption of the Fair Value Option. Loans are placed on non-accrual status when any portion of the principal or interest collectability is not probable. Interest received from loans on non-accrual status is recorded as income when collected. Loans return to accrual status when the principal and interest become current and it is probable that the amounts are fully collectible.

Interest Income: Interest income on loans is recognized on the unpaid principal balance, from the date of loan funding or acquisition to the date that loans are sold. Interest income on government bonds is recognized on the current notional balance of the underlying bond at each bonds' stated coupon for the period the bonds are held.

Servicing Income: Servicing fee income includes direct servicing fees earned for servicing loans, premiums received related to the securitization of servicing balances into HMBS pools, and the servicing spread earned which represents the difference of the note rate of the underlying loans and the interest rate owed to the investors in the HMBS pools.

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, Continued:

Use of Estimates: The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the period reported. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents: The Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Credit Risk: Financial instruments which potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist primarily of cash and receivables related to loan sales and servicing. The Company maintains its cash and cash equivalents in bank accounts with balances that periodically exceed federally insured limits.

Loans Held for Sale: Loans held for sale includes the originated or purchased mortgage loans reported at fair value.

Mortgage Servicing Rights: Mortgage servicing rights consist of the following components:

Future Net Servicing Income: The future rights to servicing income related to mortgage loans is recognized as assets when the Company sells loans originated or purchased and retains the servicing rights. Servicing rights in sold loans are recorded by allocating the previously recorded receivable between the assets sold and the interest retained based on their relative fair values at the date of transfer. The fair values of servicing rights are recognized at the date of transfer using the present value of estimated future cash flows. Future net servicing income is amortized over the period of estimated net servicing income; and evaluated for impairment based upon the fair value of the asset as compared to the carrying amount. Impairment is determined by stratifying rights into groupings based on defined origination tranches. Impairment is recognized through a valuation allowance to the extent that fair value is less than the capitalized amount. Impairment charges are included in amortization expense on the accompanying statement of operations. If the Company later determines that all or a portion of the impairment no longer exists for a particular grouping, a reduction of the allowance may be recorded as an adjustment to amortization expense.

Unsecuritized Servicing Balances: Unsecuritized servicing balances represent servicing balances which have not yet been included in a GNMA HMBS pool but were created pursuant to the terms of a reverse mortgage loan which has an initial balance securing an existing GNMA HMBS. These servicing balances are created due to the Company's rights and obligations in its capacity as the issuer of the related GNMA HMBS and include borrower requested draws on their available lines of credit, advances to pay taxes and insurance related to the underlying property and monthly mortgage insurance premiums. These balances are reported at cost which approximates fair value.

Loan Servicing Receivable: Servicing related expense paid by the Company on behalf of FNMA that is recoverable from FNMA. These balances are reported at cost which approximates fair value.

Derivative Financial Instruments and Hedging Activities: The Company uses derivatives to manage risks related to interest rate movements. The Company does not hold or issue derivative financial instruments for trading purposes. See Note 5.

Reverse Repurchase Agreements: Securities purchased or sold under agreements to resell or repurchase are reported at fair value in the accompanying balance sheet with changes in the fair value being reported in current operations. See Note 5.

Real Estate Owned: Real estate owned represents properties relating to loans that are due and payable and subsequently removed from a pool. The Company obtains title to each property, initiates foreclosure, and attempts to sell the property to recoup the funds tied up in the loans. The properties acquired by the Company are recorded at fair value based on an independent appraisal, with the difference between the fair value and the unpaid principal balance of the loan recognized through income or expense. See Note 6.

Income Taxes: The Company accounts for deferred income taxes by the liability method. Deferred income taxes are computed based on the temporary differences between the financial statement carrying amounts and income tax basis of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates in effect for the years in which the differences are expected to reverse.

LIVE WELL FINANCIAL, INC.

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, Continued:

Income Tax Uncertainties: The Company follows FASB guidance related to accounting for uncertainty in income taxes, which clarifies the accounting for income taxes by prescribing the minimum recognition threshold that a tax position is required to meet before being recognized in the Company's financial statements. In accordance with the guidance, the Company discloses the expected future tax consequences of uncertain tax positions presuming the taxing authorities' full knowledge of the facts and the Company's position and records unrecognized tax benefits or liabilities for known, or anticipated tax issues based on the Company's analysis of whether additional taxes would be due to the authority given their full knowledge of the tax position. The Company has completed its assessments and determined that there were no tax positions that would require recognition for 2015 and 2014. The Company is not currently under audit by any tax jurisdiction.

Property and Equipment: Property and equipment are stated at cost. Major repairs and betterments are capitalized and normal maintenance and repairs are charged to expense as incurred. Depreciation is computed by the straight-line methods over the estimated useful lives of the related assets, which range from three to seven years. Upon retirement or sale of an asset, the cost and accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any gain or loss is reflected in operations.

Equity-Based Compensation: The Company follows guidance from the FASB related to share-based payments, which requires that equity-based payment transactions be accounted for at their fair value and recognized as expenses in the statements of operations. Fair value of equity-based compensation is measured at the date of grant and the related unearned compensation amortized as compensation expense over the applicable vesting period.

Recent Pronouncements: In May 2014, the FASB issued ASU 2014-09 Revenue from Contracts with Customers. ASU 2014-09 is a comprehensive new revenue recognition model requiring a company to recognize revenue to depict the transfer of goods or services to a customer at an amount reflecting the consideration it expects to receive in exchange for those goods or services. ASU 2014-09 may be applied using either a full retrospective or a modified retrospective approach and is effective for fiscal years, and interim periods within those years, beginning after December 15, 2018, and early adoption is not permitted. The Company is currently evaluating the reporting and economic implications of the new standard.

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, Continued:Recent Pronouncements, Continued:

In June 2014, the FASB issued ASU 2014-11 Repurchase-to-Maturity Transactions, Repurchase Financings, and Disclosures. ASU 2014-11 changed the accounting for repurchase-to-maturity transactions and linked repurchase financings to secured borrowing accounting, which is consistent with the accounting for other repurchase agreements. This accounting change was effective in the second quarter of fiscal 2015. The guidance also required new disclosures about certain transfers of financial assets accounted for as sales as well as increased transparency about the types of collateral pledged and remaining maturity of repurchase and securities lending agreements. The disclosure guidance related to certain transactions accounted for as sales was effective prospectively in the second quarter of fiscal 2015. The disclosure guidance related to the types of collateral pledged and remaining maturity of repurchase and securities lending agreements was effective prospectively in the third quarter of fiscal 2015. This guidance does not have a material impact on the financial statements.

Fair value is estimated by discounting estimated future cash flows from the servicing assets using discount rates that approximate yields an investor would demand for a similar asset at a similar duration. The fair value of future net servicing income assets for HECM whole loans sold with servicing retained as of December 31, 2015 and 2014 was determined using the average loan life for each loan in the portfolio based on HUD HECM data and discount rates of 4.00%. The fair value of future net servicing income assets for loans collateralizing HMBS pools was based on an average discount rate of 3.32% as of December 31, 2015 and 5.00% as of December 31, 2014. The Company recorded an impairment charge of $3,821,376 during 2015 and $82,696 during 2014 on its HMBS related future net servicing income assets.

At December 31, 2015, the estimated future amortization of future net servicing income is as follows:

Year	Amortization
2016	$ 15,607,095
2017	15,472,955
2018	14,105,243
2019	11,313,757
2020	10,337,682
Thereafter	2,995,156
	$ 69,831,888

The projections of amortization expense for future net servicing income shown above is based on existing asset balances and the existing interest rate environment as of December 31, 2015. Future amortization expense may be significantly different depending upon additions to the mortgage servicing portfolio.

4. Fair Value Measurements:

The Company follows FASB guidance on fair value measurements. The provisions of the guidance provides a framework for measuring fair value under GAAP and defines fair value as the exchange price that would be received for an asset or paid to transfer a liability (exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market for the asset or liability in an orderly transaction between market participants on the measurement date. This guidance requires that valuation techniques maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs. This guidance also establishes a fair value hierarchy which prioritizes the valuation inputs into three broad levels.

4. Fair Value Measurements, Continued:

Based on the underlying inputs, each fair value measurement in its entirety is reported in one of three levels:

Level 1 – Unadjusted quoted prices that are available in active markets on major exchanges (e.g. New York Stock Exchange) for the identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date.

Level 2 – Quoted prices for similar instruments in active and inactive markets; and model driven valuations with significant inputs and drivers derived from observable active markets.

Level 3 – Unobservable inputs that cannot be corroborated by observable market data and reflect the use of significant management judgment. These values are generally determined using pricing models for which the assumptions utilize management's estimates of market participant assumptions.

Assets measured at fair value on a recurring basis at December 31, 2015, include the following:

4. Fair Value Measurements, Continued:

The following methods and assumptions were used to estimate the fair value of each class of financial instruments.

Loans Held for Sale: The fair value of forward mortgage loans is based on the price secondary markets are currently offering for similar loans using observable market data (Level 2). Reverse mortgage loans are generally classified within Level 3 of the valuation hierarchy due to the lack of observable pricing data for the sale of the loan and the servicing component of the loan. The Company uses the market approach valuation technique to measure the fair value of Level 3 financial instruments. Significant unobservable inputs consist primarily of HMBS pricing which can differ across product types and note rates. The Company receives HMBS price indicators as of the balance sheet date from various active broker dealers in the HMBS market. Those price indicators can range based on product type between 25-75 basis points. The Company uses the average price indicator by product type in its fair value measurement.

Loan Commitments: Loan commitments are generally classified within Level 3 of the valuation hierarchy due to the lack of observable pricing data for the underlying valuation of the loan and the estimated percentage of loan commitments that will result in a closed mortgage loan. The underlying loans are valued using a methodology consistent with the valuation of LHFS. The Company uses the market approach valuation technique to measure the fair value of Level 3 financial instruments. Significant unobservable inputs consist primarily of HMBS pricing which can differ across product types and note rates. The Company receives HMBS price indicators as of the balance sheet date from various active broker dealers in the HMBS market. Those price indicators can range based on product type between 25-75 basis points. The Company uses the average price indicator by product type in its fair value measurement.

Repurchase Agreements: These investments are classified within Level 2 of the valuation hierarchy based on the price secondary markets are currently offering for similar investments using observable market data and model driven valuations.

Government Bonds Available for Sale: Government bonds available for sale consists of residential mortgage-backed securities for which the principal and interest payments are guaranteed by a U.S. Government Agency, which also includes agency collateralized mortgage obligations and interest only securities. These investments are classified within Level 2 of the valuation hierarchy based on the price secondary markets are currently offering for similar investments using observable market data and model driven valuations. The Company carries these securities at fair value derived from an independent third-party pricing source that provides daily price quotes; which are specific to each bond CUSIP. This pricing service is also utilized by other industry participants to determine collateral values and active trades on bonds.

5. Derivative Financial Instruments:

Reverse Repurchase Agreements: The Company may enter into reverse repurchase agreements in order to hedge against certain interest rate risks associated with its GNMA Bond portfolio, under the terms of a Master Repurchase Agreement, with selected commercial banks and broker-dealers ("Repo Counterparties"), under which the Company agrees to transfer to Repo Counterparties, funds, against the transfer of securities or other assets by Repo Counterparties, with a simultaneous agreement by Repo counterparties to transfer to the Company, funds, at a date certain or on demand, against the transfer of such securities by Company. It is the Company's policy to maintain compliance with each repurchase agreement that it enters into. This will include, but is not limited to, maintaining required haircut amounts and meeting margin calls as the market value of the collateral fluctuates.

Information about financial assets and liabilities that are eligible for offset on the balance sheet as of December 31, 2015 is presented in the following table.

Description	Gross Amount of Assets Recognized	Gross Amount Offset in the Balance Sheet	Net Amount of Assets Presented in the Balance Sheet
Reverse Repurchase Agreements	$ 272,661,482	$ 272,410,742	$ 250,740

Rate Lock Commitments: The Company enters into interest rate lock commitments ("IRLCs") with prospective residential forward mortgage borrowers whereby the interest rate on the loan is determined prior to funding and the borrowers have locked into that interest rate. The estimated fair values of IRLCs are based on quoted market values and are recorded in other assets in the statements of financial condition. The initial and subsequent changes in the value of IRLCs are a component of gain on mortgage loans. The Company actively manages the risk profiles of its IRLCs and mortgage loans held for sale on a daily basis. To manage the price risk associated with IRLCs, the Company enters into forward sales of mortgage-backed securities in an amount equal to the portion of the IRLC expected to close, considering current mortgage interest rates. In addition, to manage the interest rate risk associated with mortgage loans held for sale, the Company enters into forward sales of mortgage-backed securities to deliver mortgage loan inventory to investors. The estimated fair values of forward sales of mortgage-backed securities and forward sale commitments are based on quoted market values and are recorded in other assets or an accrued liability in the statements of financial condition. The initial and subsequent changes in value on forward sales of mortgage-backed securities are a component of gain on mortgage loans.

In September 2008, the Company adopted a stock option plan under which up to 282 shares of the Company's common stock are reserved for issuance upon exercise of options that may be granted to key employees, officers, directors and consultants. Generally, under the plan, options will become 25% exercisable one-year after the date of grant, with the remaining unvested portion vesting monthly over the next three years, and will expire if not exercised at the period of ten years from the date of grant. The exercise price of options expected to be granted under the plan will generally be at the fair value of the Company's common stock at the date of grant, as determined by the Company's board of directors. Shares of stock issued upon exercise of options will be subject to a first right of repurchase by the Company.

During 2013, the Company issued 156.76 common stock options to certain officers at an initial fair value of $15,163 per option. Each option represents the right to purchase one share of common stock at an exercise price of $15,163 per share. During 2015 and 2014, 39.19 of these options vested and became fully exercisable. The Company recognized $209,532 of compensation expense related to the vesting. The fair value of each option was estimated at the grant date using the fair value method. The assumptions used in calculating the estimated fair value of stock option granted during 2015 and 2014 are as follows:

Dividend yield	0%
Volatility percentage	40%
Weighted-average risk free interest rate	3.00%
Holding period (years)	4

13. Commitments:

Lease Commitments: The Company has entered into various lease agreements for office space that include scheduled rent increases at specified intervals during the term of the leases and expire at various times through 2020. Rent expense amounted to $692,800 for 2015 and $382,191 for 2014.

At December 31, 2015, the approximate minimum commitments for lease agreements are as follows:

Year	Amount
2016	$ 868,431
2017	893,533
2018	751,077
2019	593,086
2020	420,181
Thereafter	34,494
	$ 3,560,802

Loan Funding Commitments: At December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company had commitments to fund mortgage loans of $31.0 million and $51.0 million, respectively, with agreed-upon rates or rate protection.

Government Bond Commitments: At December 31, 2015, the Company had two government bonds that traded in December but were not settled until January 2016. The bonds had a purchase price of $5,466,592 and $12,746,832, respectively, and a fair market value of $7,016,154 and $16,995,775, respectively, as of December 31, 2015.

14. Contingencies and Guarantees:

The Company's agreements with various government agencies include representations and warranties related to the loans the Company sells under the agency's approval. The representations and warranties require adherence to agency origination and underwriting guidelines, including but not limited to the validity of the lien securing the loan, property eligibility, borrower credit, income and asset requirements, and compliance with applicable federal, state and local law.

In the event of a breach of its representations and warranties, the Company may be required to either repurchase the mortgage loans with the identified defects or indemnify the government agency. In such cases, the Company bears any subsequent credit loss on the mortgage loans. The Company's representations and warranties are generally not subject to stated limits of exposure. The Company's credit loss may be reduced by any recourse it has to correspondent lenders that, in turn, had sold such mortgage loans to the Company and breached similar or other representations and warranties. In such event, the Company has the right to seek a recovery of related repurchase losses from that correspondent lender.

14. Contingencies and Guarantees, Continued:

The Company records a provision for losses relating to the representations and warranties it makes as part of its loan sale and securitization transactions. The method used to estimate the liability for representations and warranties is a function of the representations and warranties given and considers a combination of factors, including, but not limited to, estimated future defaults and loan repurchase rates and the potential severity of loss in the event of defaults and the probability of reimbursement by the correspondent loan seller. The Company continually updates its liability estimates. At December 31 2015 and 2014, the Company's general reserve for loan losses and reserve for any losses that may be realized on loans associated with HMBS pools in future years was as follows:

	2015	2014
HMBS pool loss reserve	$ 10,553,481	$ 7,230,210
Other loss reserve	1,132,656	1,092,403
Total loss reserve	$ 11,686,137	$ 8,322,613

Pursuant to its Articles of Incorporation, the Company has certain obligations to indemnify its current and former officers and directors for certain events or occurrences while the officer or director is, or was serving, at the Company's request in such capacities. The maximum liability under these obligations is unlimited; however, the Company's insurance policies serve to limit its exposure. The Company believes that the estimated fair value of these indemnification obligations is minimal.

15. Related Party Transactions:

An officer of the Company has guaranteed payment of certain debt described in Note 7 and certain credit card debt of the Company and has provided guarantees to sureties in respect of performance and payment bonds issued by the sureties in connection with certain contracts entered into by the Company in the normal course of business. The Company has not provided specific compensation to the officer for taking these actions.

16. Employee Retirement Plan:

The Company sponsors a defined contribution retirement plan which covers all employees who meet eligibility requirements. The plan enables participants to make contributions, and the Company may make matching or discretionary contributions. The Company's contributions to the plan amounted to $19,620 during 2015.

17. Regulatory Capital Requirements:

The Company is required to maintain specific levels of stockholders' equity to maintain its status as a seller/servicer in good standing with various government agencies. Such equity requirements generally are based on the size of the Company's loan servicing portfolio or loan origination volume. Failure to maintain minimum capital requirements could result in the Company's inability to originate and sell or securitize loans and service loans for the respective agencies and, therefore, could have a direct material effect on the Company's financial statements. The Company's actual capital amounts and the minimum amounts required for capital adequacy purposes by each agency are as follows:

	2015		2014
	Net Worth	Minimum Capital Requirements	Net Worth	Minimum Capital Requirements
HUD	$ 73,498,714	$ 2,500,000	$ 45,528,659	$ 2,500,000

To the Board of Directors and Stockholders
Live Well Financial, Inc.
Richmond, Virginia

We have audited, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, the financial statements of Live Well Financial, Inc. (the "Company"), which comprise the statement of financial condition as of December 31, 2015, and the related statements of operations, stockholders' equity, and cash flows for the year then ended and related notes to the financial statements, and have issued our report thereon March 25, 2016.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) to determine the audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the Company's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph of this section and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies. Given these limitations, during our audit we did not identify any deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses. However, material weaknesses may exist that have not been identified.

Compliance and Other Matters

As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the Company's financial statements are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements, noncompliance with which could have a material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit and, accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no instances of noncompliance or other matters that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards.

Purpose of this Report

The purpose of this report is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control or on compliance. This report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the Company's internal control and compliance. Accordingly, this communication is not suitable for any other purpose.

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on compliance for each of the Company's major HUD programs based on our audit of the compliance requirements referred to above. We conducted our audit of compliance in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States; the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States; and the audit guide. Those standards and the audit guide require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether noncompliance with the compliance requirements referred to above that could have a direct and material effect on a major HUD-assisted program occurred. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence about the Company's compliance with those requirements and performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion on compliance for each major HUD program. However, our audit does not provide a legal determination of the Company's compliance.

Opinion on Each Major HUD Programs

In our opinion, the Company complied, in all material respects, with the compliance requirements referred to above that could have a direct and material effect on its major HUD programs for the year ended December 31, 2015.

Report on Internal Control Over Compliance

Management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining effective internal control over compliance with the compliance requirements referred to above. In planning and performing our audit, we considered the Company's internal control over compliance with the requirements that could have a direct and material effect on each major HUD program to determine the auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on compliance for each major HUD program and to test and report on internal control over compliance in accordance with the audit guide, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control over compliance. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over compliance.

A deficiency in internal control over compliance exists when the design or operation of a control over compliance does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct, noncompliance with a compliance requirement of a HUD program on a timely basis. A material weakness in internal control over compliance is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control over compliance, such that there is a reasonable possibility that material noncompliance with a compliance requirement of a HUD program will not be prevented, or detected and corrected, on a timely basis. A significant deficiency in internal control over compliance is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over compliance with a compliance requirement of a HUD program that is less severe than a material weakness in internal control over compliance, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance. Our consideration of internal control over compliance was for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph of this section and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control over compliance that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control over compliance that we consider to be material weaknesses. However, material weaknesses may exist that have not been identified.

The purpose of this report on internal control over compliance is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over compliance and the results of that testing based on the requirements of the audit guide. Accordingly, this report is not suitable for any other purpose.
